

Materials Science & Engineering Summer Research Fellowship

May 30 - August 11, 2017

The Temple Materials Institute (TMI) housed in the College of Science and Technology is proud to announce the Materials Science and Engineering Fellowship. This fellowship will engage students in research projects spanning materials chemistry, physics and engineering in a 10-week residential experience beginning Tuesday, May 30, 2017 and ending Friday, August 11, 2017. Participating fellows will receive a $4500 stipend, on-campus housing, and a travel allowance. This program aims to support historically underserved students with limited opportunities. In order to be eligible for the program applicants must be a rising junior or senior, be enrolled in a traditional science major, and have a minimum overall GPA of 2.85.

Application Deadline is April 14, 2017
